Letter to Shareholders

Dear Shareholders,

2025 marks a defining year for Huaxin Building Materials to reshape landscape and redefine value. Amid a cyclical downturn in the domestic building materials market, the Company not only weathered the storm but also successfully expanded the global footprint of strategic assets. Navigating in the intensifying industry “involution” and evolving demand dynamics, the management demonstrated unwavering strategic resolve, steering the team through a pivotal transition from “scale growth” to “quality growth”. 2025’s performance results have commanded the full attention of the capital markets: the market capitalization surged 108% against strong market headwinds, leading the industry, while financial fundamentals improved measurably, with the operating cash flow continuing its upward trajectory. In this context, the global value of Huaxin, a company with more than a century of history, is being redefined.

Over the past year, Huaxin’s strategy focus has centred on optimizing the asset portfolio and constructing a global moat capable of navigating economic cycles.

A historic breakthrough in our overseas footprint: We successfully completed the acquisition and integration of the Lafarge’s Nigeria operations and brought the aggregates project in Brazil into operation. These strategic initiatives have positioned Huaxin as the Chinese cement producer with the largest overseas production capacity and the broadest geographical footprint. Expansion into high-margin overseas markets is fast emerging as the second growth engine.

Unlocking synergies across domestic operations: In the domestic arena, through integrated and synergistic operations, the undisputed leadership in the aggregates business was further cemented (ranking first nationally in both production and sales), while achieving positive net operating cash flow in the concrete business for the first time. This marks the evolution of the domestic operations from mere scale expansion into mature business units with robust, self-sustaining profitability.

2026, initiating the commencement of the 15th Five-Year Plan, also marks a pivotal year for Huaxin’s global strategy to transition from “expand footprint” to “deepen presence”. Not only will the Company continue to steadily expand its global footprint, but it will also sharpen the focus on enhancing capital efficiency and fortifying the core competitiveness, as the Company strives to emerge as a world-class building materials enterprise with global pricing power.

1. Advancing Supply-Side Reform and Enhancing Asset Returns

The Company will align closely with the government's capacity policies and resolutely adhere to the mandate of "organizing production in accordance with approved capacity". Amid the ongoing industry-wide capacity consolidation, Huaxin will proactively assume the responsibilities of a market leader, safeguarding orderly competition. A recovery in overall industry profitability is essential to delivering sustainable long-term value for shareholders.

2. Accelerating Overseas Capacity Release and Forging a Global Growth Engine

The overseas operation is set for earnings realization.

Operational targets: Ensure the newly built and upgraded projects in Nigeria and Mozambique, along with the expansion projects in Tanzania and Zimbabwe, commence production as scheduled; and strive to achieve overseas cement sales volume exceeding 27 million tons for the full year, with an EBITDA contribution surpassing RMB7 billion.

Strategic intent: By rebalancing the global capacity presence, we aim to mitigate exposure to individual market cycles and position the overseas operations as a key pillar supporting the Company's long-term growth.

3. Driving Extreme Cost Optimization and Digital & Intelligent Transformation to Build a Cost Moat

In the building materials industry, cost leadership underpins pricing power. In 2026, we will drive cost reductions across the entire value chain through micro-innovations in technical parameters and the application of digital and information technologies. Even incremental efficiency gains, when scaled across the world-class production base, will translate into substantial economic value. We will continue to ramp up investment, accelerate the implementation of AI applications across our core businesses, and cement an absolute competitive advantage in the digital arena.

4. We will continuously enhance the alternative fuel substitution rate across all operations, steadily advance the implementation of carbon reduction innovation technology projects, and strive to achieve the goals set forth in the Company's Low-Carbon Development White Paper.

5. Consolidating the Foundation for Sustainable Profitability and Delivering Win-win for All Stakeholders

Guided by the philosophy that "a better world begins with us," the Company will continue to expand its profitability moat through dynamic alignment of stakeholder interests. In an increasingly complex global operating environment, sustained value creation for all stakeholders remains essential to ensuring the long-term stability of global operations and strengthening the Company's resilience in the face of future challenges.

A new chapter has begun, and we are forging ahead with renewed purpose. In 2026, Huaxin will embrace the transformations and opportunities in the global marketplace with a more proactive and open outlook. We extend our gratitude to our shareholders for their enduring trust and look forward to working together to create sustainable long-term value.

Chief Executive Officer Li Yeqing

(I) CEMENT

The industry in which the Company operates is the building materials industry.

2025 marked as the concluding year of China's 14th Five-Year Plan. Amid complex changes in the domestic and international economic landscape, China's economy advanced under pressure, achieving new progress in high-quality development. For the year, GDP grew by 5.0% and exceeded RMB140 trillion for the first time, with major economic and social development targets successfully accomplished, marking the successful conclusion of the 14th Five-Year Plan. However, affected by the persistent decline in real estate development investment and the slowdown in infrastructure investment growth, cement demand continued to contract. Total cement output for the year amounted to 1.693 billion tons, representing a year-on-year decrease of 6.9%.

According to statistics from the Information Research Center of the China Cement Association, the clinker capacity utilization rate in 2025 was estimated to be approximately 48%, down by 5 percentage points from 2024. Despite intensified off-peak production, instances of excess production persisted. Coupled with weakening demand from both the real estate and infrastructure sectors, the imbalance between supply and demand in the industry has not been fundamentally alleviated, and operating pressure on enterprises remained elevated. Total industry profit for the year is estimated at approximately RMB28 to 30 billion, representing an increase compared with last year. (Data sources: National Bureau of Statistics of China and China Cement Association)

In July 2025, the China Cement Association issued the "Opinions on Further Promoting the Work of 'Anti-Involution' and 'Stable Growth' for the High-Quality Development of the Cement Industry", calling for the strict implementation of relevant policies, optimisation of industrial structure adjustment, and further promotion of "anti-involution" and "stable growth" to achieve high-quality development in the cement industry. In August 2025, the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology and five other government departments jointly issued the "Work Plan for Stable Growth in the Building Materials Industry (2025-2026)". This plan prioritised "strengthening industry management and promoting survival of the fittest", explicitly prohibiting the addition of new cement clinker production capacity. It stipulated that new construction and renovation projects must formulate capacity replacement plans, and required cement enterprises to complete the formulation of replacement plans for production capacity exceeding their registered capacity by the end of 2025, thereby promoting alignment between actual and registered production capacity. The plan also called for leveraging the role of comprehensive standards for quality, environmental protection, energy consumption and safety to phase out outdated cement capacity in accordance with laws and regulations. Furthermore, the plan proposed implementing an "AI + Building Materials" initiative, establishing smart factories and digital energy and carbon management centers, and carrying out actions to foster "Six-Zero" factories in industries including cement. On the demand side, policies aimed to stimulate consumption of green and high value-added products through measures such as the continued implementation of green building materials subsidy programmes in rural areas, the inclusion of green building materials in the scope of the consumer goods trade-in policy, and the implementation of government procurement policies supporting green building materials.

At the environmental level, in June 2025, the Ministry of Ecology and Environment responded to media inquiries regarding the Opinions on Promoting the Implementation of Ultra-Low Emissions in the Cement Industry, proposing that by the end of 2025, approximately 50% of clinker production capacity in key national air pollution prevention and control regions should complete ultra-low emission retrofits; and by the end of 2028, approximately 80% of national capacity should achieve ultra-low emission upgrades. The policy sets stringent emission concentration limits for particulate matter, sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides, and introduces refined requirements covering the entire process, including fugitive emissions from material storage and transportation, as well as the proportion of clean transportation. In November 2025, the Ministry of Ecology and Environment issued the Total Allowance and Allocation Plan for the National Carbon Emissions Trading Market for the Steel, Cement and Aluminum Smelting Industries for 2024 and 2025, marking the official launch of the national carbon emissions trading scheme for the cement industry. Carbon emission costs have since been incorporated into the core considerations of enterprise production and operations. The framework establishes a free quota allocation mechanism based on carbon emission intensity control, which is expected to have a profound impact on companies' technological pathways and cost structures.

COMPANY BUSINESS

The above policies constitute a comprehensive policy package characterized by “strict prohibition of new capacity, elimination of outdated capacity, strengthened green constraints and market-based guidance.” This signals the industry’s departure from the old cycle driven primarily by scale expansion and price competition, and its entry into a new phase centered on capacity rationalization, cost restructuring and green premium. Against this backdrop, the core competitiveness of cement enterprises has shifted from resource endowment and scale advantages to capabilities in technology, energy efficiency, environmental performance and industrial chain synergies. Industry differentiation and consolidation are expected to accelerate comprehensively, with high-quality development becoming the key pathway forward.

According to the Cement Clinker Capacity Top 100 Ranking published by China Cement Net, as at the end of 2025, the Company ranked fourth globally in terms of clinker capacity among Chinese cement enterprises. Among these, the Company ranked sixth domestically in China for clinker capacity, and first domestically for overseas clinker capacity.

(III) OUTLOOK FOR 2026

1. Industrial pattern and trend of development

(1) Macro situation of the domestic building materials industry

2026 marks the first year of the 15th Five-Year Plan period. As the Chinese economy continues to demonstrate resilience amid a complex international environment, the Central Economic Work Conference has clearly signalled more proactive measures to stabilize growth, emphasizing enhanced forward-looking, targeted and coordinated macroeconomic policies, with a focus on expanding domestic demand and optimizing supply. For the cement industry, a series of initiatives set forth at the conference — including “intensifying efforts to address ‘involution-style’ competition”, “continuing to implement a more proactive fiscal policy and a moderately accommodative monetary policy”, “stabilising the real estate market”, and “accelerating the establishment of a new pattern for real estate development” — are expected to establish a policy floor for the industry, facilitating its transition towards declining volumes and structural adjustment, while gradually paving the way for recovery.

In 2026, the Chinese cement industry will enter a new phase interwoven with both opportunities and challenges, characterized by a general trend towards “stabilising aggregate volume and optimizing structure”. On the one hand, the industry continues to face pressures on both the supply and demand sides, although policy adjustments are expected to steer the industry towards rebalancing. On the supply side, despite ongoing national capacity control measures, production exceeding permitted levels persists. On the demand side, adjustments in the real estate market and the slowdown in infrastructure investment growth continue to weigh on domestic cement demand. On the other hand, through the systemic coordination of policies on capacity control, technological innovation and green consumption, the industry is expected to gradually resolve its long-standing structural supply-demand imbalances and extricate itself from “involution-style” vicious competition, thereby entering a restorative growth cycle with quality and efficiency as the core. With the advancement and implementation of capacity management policies, enterprises’ production activities will be more strictly aligned with approved capacity, creating conditions for a new dynamic equilibrium between supply and demand. Building on this foundation, and with continued efforts to address “involution-style” competition, the domestic cement pricing system is expected to see some restoration in 2026, and overall industry profitability is anticipated to further recover.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE COMPANY

(2) Macro and Industry Landscape in international markets

According to the latest World Economic Outlook released by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the global economy is expected to remain stable amid divergent forces, with global growth projected to reach 3.3% in 2026. The economies of countries where the Company operates overseas are expected to outperform the regional average, maintaining favorable growth momentum. Tajikistan, Kyrgyzstan, Uzbekistan, Nepal, Tanzania and Zambia are projected to achieve economic growth of over 5% in 2026.

According to research conducted by On Field Investment Research®, global cement demand and prices are expected to remain stable in 2026. Excluding the Chinese market, global cement demand is expected to grow by approximately 5%, driven by the continued expansion of emerging economies. Cement demand in most of the countries where the Company operates its overseas business is expected to maintain a growth trajectory.

2. Development Strategy of the Company

In 2026, in spite of persistent complex situations, the Company will stay firm with confidence and implement targeted measures, promote the corporate culture of “integrity, dedication, pragmatism, innovation,” and adhere to the values of “safety first, customer centric, result orientated, act with integrity, innovative development and people oriented” to pursue the corporate vision of “Beautiful world starts with us”. For the full year, sales volume of cement and clinker reached 109% of the budget, concrete sales volume reached 91% of the budget, and aggregates sales volume reached 94% of the budget. The Company achieved operating revenue of RMB35.348 billion, fulfilling 95.2% of the annual budget.

The Company’s planned capital expenditure for 2026 is approximately RMB15.0 billion, focusing primarily on enhancing overseas cement production capacity and overseas M&A.

As at the end of 2026, the Company’s total assets are expected to be approximately RMB95 billion, with the asset liability ratio expected to remain at around 54%.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE COMPANY

To achieve the above operational targets, the Company will implement the following measures:

- 1 Further Strengthening Operational Mindset. In the domestic market, we will resolutely implement the requirement to “organise production in accordance with approved capacity” and strengthen market maintenance. We will step up investment to promote extreme cost reduction, and through continuous benchmarking, refined operations and integrated synergies, micro innovation of technical parameters, advanced utilization of information technology tools, comprehensive refined cost management, consolidate the profit foundation, systematically enhance operational efficiency and risk resistance capabilities, ensuring the high-quality achievement of profitability targets.
- 2 Advancing the four major strategies with consolidated efforts, and pursuing steady progress to drive sustainable development. While fully advancing the construction of overseas cement projects in Nigeria, Mozambique, Tanzania, Zimbabwe and other countries, we will implement acquisitions to further expand overseas cement and aggregates production capacity. We will deepen market research to promote the construction of overseas hazardous waste disposal and mortar production lines, opening up new growth drivers. For the aggregates business, we will adhere to revenue growth as the core objective, optimise and promote automated detection systems, improve service processes and systems, and fully leverage regional market advantages. For the ready-mixed concrete business, we will continue to focus on market positioning and quality maintenance, as well as closed-loop management of the full accounts receivable cycle, balancing price stabilisation and volume growth with cost reduction and efficiency enhancement to improve operational performance. Leveraging our advantages in independent R&D and proprietary control, we will build an overseas “ERP+” digital system, promote and improve the international office platform, and, domestically, drive the integration of industrial intelligence, business intelligence and management intelligence with AI capabilities, establishing a sustainable smart operations production system.
- 3 Upholding the lifelines of “Safety and Environmental Protection” and setting the benchmark for clean and civilized production in the industry. We will continuously strengthen health compliance management and on-site inspections, advance the refined management of safety production, conduct annual health and safety audits, intensify health compliance management and inspection efforts, deepen mine safety management, and effectively strengthen the control of major business risks, thereby building a solid line of defense for the safe and stable development of the enterprise.
- 4 Weaving a multi-dimensional risk prevention and control system to fully safeguard the Company’s sustainable and healthy development. We will consistently strengthen fund control, focusing on optimizing overseas spare parts inventory and enhancing fund concentration; dynamically monitor the foreign exchange market and precisely hedge against risk exposure; build a digital credit monitoring platform and develop flexible credit policies; continue to deepen the integration of “legal and commercial” mechanisms, extending from risk control to value-added services, embedding legal management deeply into strategic planning and business operations; and persistently advance the construction of a “Clean Huaxin”, fight against corruption in any forms and promote warning education, ensuring the integrity and compliant operation of all business activities.
- 5 Coordinating domestic optimization and overseas innovation to build a new modern marketing system. Domestically, while maintaining traditional sales advantages, the Company will upgrade the “Huaxin Mall”, establishing a closed data loop encompassing “online account opening-smart sales management-pricing system”. The Company will promote the linkage among cement, aggregates and concrete businesses, increase the proportion of direct sales, and drive improvements in sales efficiency and reductions in channel costs. Overseas, the Company will strengthen brand and organizational development, deepen the global replication of the NEWTA model and the operation of short video matrices, and promote the implementation of visual identity systems and local brand building at overseas plants.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE COMPANY

- 6 Intensifying efforts to expand new energy vehicle projects and deepening supply chain potential for value creation. The Company will rapidly promote new energy projects, accelerate the launch of new energy digital systems, establish a logistics command and dispatch platform and a smart vehicle transport dispatch system, and drive algorithm-based efficient coordination of sales, production and transportation. Leveraging the advantages of centralised procurement, the Company will adhere to the principle of separation, and carry out sourcing of raw materials and fuels through bidding, auctions and negotiations to explore cost reduction opportunities.
- 7 Focusing on building a global talent pipeline and consolidating the talent foundation for enterprise development. Adhering to the principles of “internal selection and external recruitment” and the criteria of “loyal, clean and responsible”, the Company will systematically build a talent management system covering the entire chain of “selection, employment, cultivation and retention”. The Company will continue to implement open competition and merit-based promotion and demotion mechanisms to stimulate talent vitality; scientifically formulate a tiered and categorised talent demand plan for the 15th Five-Year Plan period, and promote precise alignment between personnel and positions. We will build an integrated “domestic + overseas” training and empowerment system, establishing Huaxin International College and overseas business schools, and strengthening the professional capabilities of both foreign employees and expatriate talents, thereby providing a solid talent foundation for building a globally leading multinational building materials group.

4. Potential Risks

Drop in the domestic demand for cement and severe overcapacity may result in declining performance. In the medium and long term, with the continuous variation of the Chinese investment structure, the demand for cement will show a downward trend or become normalized. The slow progress of the cement industry in removing production capacity and persistent low utilization rate of clinker will intensify market competition. Continued pressure on cement prices will have an adverse impact on the operating performance of the Company.

Risks of safe production and compliant operation of low carbon and emission. The Company’s production operations cover quarry exploitation, cement and cement product production, hazardous waste, household garbage, sludge disposal and other businesses. The PRC government increasingly enforces stringent requirements on enterprise safety production and emission cuts and reducing carbon. Against the backdrop, any accident of safety and emission in production, or the energy consumption of plants fails to reach the benchmark will damage the reputation and have an adverse impact on the Company’s operations.

Risks of surging production cost. The energy market has many uncertainties due to the overseas situation, supply demand landscape and policies. With the “dual carbon” objectives, the requirements for energy consumption, carbon reduction, safety, eco protection, transportation overload and quarry treatment will be increasingly stricter. Therefore, enterprises need to invest more in technology upgrade, hence adding further burden on production cost factors.

Risks in international operation and foreign exchange rate fluctuations. The current international situation is complicated. Factors such as geopolitical conflicts, economic and trade disputes, financial market turmoil, and commodity price fluctuations have increased the risk of instability and uncertainty in the development of the global economy. In addition, the political, economic, social, and religious complexities of different countries, as well as the differences in legal systems, together with fluctuations in exchange rates and its foreign reserves, will bring challenges to the Company’s international business development.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE COMPANY

To cope with the above risks, the Company will take the following measures to enhance competitiveness and resilience:

- (1) The Company shows the sense of responsibility of a large enterprise to actively implement national policies and measures such as “supply-side structural reform” to promote a healthy development of the industry. Adhering to the principle of “unified highest standards with local adaptation”, the Company will establish a high-standard global ESG management and execution system. This will enable us to proactively respond to the complex international regulatory environment and ensure the steady and sustainable development of our global operations. The Company will further optimize the employment and human resources mechanism to promote sustainable, stable and healthy development of the Company.
- (2) The Company insists on developing concept of green and low-carbon building materials through the life cycle, adhering to the concept of “safety and eco-friendly” as the bottom line of production, setting a benchmark for clean and civilized production in the industry, and increasing investment in safe and eco protection to further eliminate/prevent potential environmental risks. The Company strives to optimize emission to lower energy consumption and fuel cost. Through the upgrade of technology and digital innovation to use electric vehicles for logistics and adopt multiple measures to squeeze production, procurement and logistics costs. The Company will strengthen and refine the marketing ability, and focus on the core markets, valuable clients and smart marketing to improve efficiency.
- (3) Overseas, the Company will maintain a diversified market presence to avoid over-reliance on any single market. We will adhere to localized production, adopting management styles and operational strategies tailored to the host countries, so as to mitigate cultural and operational risks. The Company will establish a global compliance management system, conduct regular compliance training and audits to reduce compliance risks, and enhance the corporate reputation and capacity for sustainable development. The Company will actively implement various risk hedging strategies to reduce regional economic and foreign exchange risk exposure.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

Ernst & Young Hua Ming (2026) Shen Zi No. 70009578_C01
Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.

To the board of directors of Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.:

I. AUDIT OPINION

We have audited the financial statements of Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd., which comprise the consolidated and company balance sheets as at 31 December 2025, and the consolidated and company income statements, the consolidated and company statements of changes in equity and the consolidated and company statements of cash flows for the year then ended, and the notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated and the Company's financial position as at 31 December 2025, and the consolidated and the Company's financial performance and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises ("ASBEs").

II. BASIS FOR AUDIT OPINION

We have conducted our audit in accordance with the Chinese Standards on Auditing for Certified Public Accountants. The section Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements in the auditor's report further explains our responsibilities under these standards. In accordance with the "Code of Independence for Certified Public Accountants No. 1 — Requirements on Independence for Audit and Review Engagements of Financial Statements" and the Code of Ethics for Certified Public Accountants in China, we are independent of Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd., and have fulfilled other ethical responsibilities. We have complied with the independence requirements for audits of public interest entities. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

III. KEY AUDIT MATTERS

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. For each matter below, our description of how our audit addressed the matters is provided in that context.

We have fulfilled the responsibilities described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report, including those in relation to these key audit matters. Accordingly, our audit included the performance of audit procedures designed to respond to our assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements. The results of our audit procedures, including the procedures performed to address the key audit matters below, provide the basis for our audit opinion on the financial statements as a whole.

Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.

III. KEY AUDIT MATTERS (continued)

Key audit matter:

How our audit addressed the matter:

Expected credit losses on accounts receivable

As at 31 December 2025, the carrying amounts of accounts receivable in the consolidated balance sheet and the company balance sheet were RMB3,203,781,601 and RMB445,090,455, respectively, and the amounts of provision for expected credit losses (“ECLs”) were RMB386,196,455 and RMB18,547,787, respectively. According to the different types of clients and other factors, the management classified the accounts receivable into groups of different credit risk characteristics. For each credit risk characteristic group, the management uses the ECL model to estimate and make provision for bad debts. When estimating the ECLs, the management takes relevant information into consideration, including the customer’s historical default rate and other specific factors (such as the type of customers, the historical collections and write-offs of bad debts), as well as the expected macroeconomic environment to consider the forward-looking information. At the same time, the management pays attention to the collection of accounts receivable to identify additional indicators of default or impairment and determine whether provision for bad debts assessed on an individual basis is required.

As the amount of accounts receivable was significant and the determination of ECLs required significant accounting judgements and estimates by the management, we identified the ECL of accounts receivable as a key audit matter.

Please refer to Note III. 9. Financial instruments, Note III. 31. Significant accounting judgements and estimates, Note V.4. Accounts receivable and Note XVI.1. Accounts receivable for disclosures of accounts receivable in the consolidated financial statements.

Our main procedures to address the ECLs of accounts receivable included:

- (1) Evaluating and testing the internal controls in relation to the ECLs of accounts receivable;
- (2) Reviewing and evaluating the ECL model, including the classification of groups by different credit risk characteristics, the estimation of credit loss of each classification, the historical statistics and other forward-looking information used to calculate the credit risk loss;
- (3) Testing the accuracy of the ageing of accounts receivable and the mathematical accuracy of the amount of ECLs calculated by the management using the ECL model;
- (4) For accounts receivables assessed individually, selecting samples and reviewing the supporting documents (including the going concern condition, the market environment, the historical collection and subsequent collection of accounts receivable of the clients) to evaluate the reasonableness of the expected present value of cash flows and bad debts assessed on an individual basis by the management; and
- (5) Evaluating the adequacy of disclosures regarding the ECLs of accounts receivable by the management.

IV. OTHER INFORMATION

The management of the Company is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report.

Our audit opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

With respect to the work we have performed, if we are certain that the other information is materially misstated, we should report the facts. In this regard, we have nothing to report.

V. RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE MANAGEMENT AND THOSE CHARGED WITH GOVERNANCE FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The management of the Company is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with ASBEs, and for designing, implementing and maintaining such internal control as the management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting, unless the management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.'s financial reporting process.

VI. AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE AUDIT OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Chinese Standards on Auditing ("CSAs") will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are generally considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.

As part of an audit conducted in accordance with CSAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also perform the following tasks:

- (1) Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- (2) Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.
- (3) Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- (4) Conclude on the appropriateness of the management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- (5) Evaluate the overall presentation (including the disclosures), structure and content of the financial statements, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- (6) Plan and perform the group audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business units within the Group as a basis for forming an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and review of the audit work performed for purposes of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about these matters or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our auditors' report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Notes to Financial Statements

I. BASIC INFORMATION

Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the “Company” or “Huaxin Building”) is a joint stock company with limited liability incorporated in Hubei, the People’s Republic of China and was established on 30 November 1993. The Renminbi-denominated ordinary shares (A shares) and H shares of the Company are listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange (“Shanghai Stock Exchange”) and The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (“Hong Kong Stock Exchange”), respectively. The Company’s headquarters is located at No. 426 Gaoxin Avenue, Donghu New Technology Development District, Wuhan, Hubei.

The principal business activities of the Company and its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Group”) include the manufacture and sale of cement, concrete, clinker, aggregates and other building materials.

In October 2025, the name of the company was changed from “Huaxin Cement Co., Ltd.” to “Huaxin Building Materials Group Co., Ltd.”

These financial statements were approved for disclosure by a resolution of the board of directors of the Company on 26 March 2026.

II. BASIS OF PREPARATION OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Basis of Preparation

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises – Basic Standards issued by the Ministry of Finance as well as specific accounting standards, interpretations and other relevant provisions issued and revised subsequently (collectively referred to as “Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises”). In addition, the financial statements also include the relevant disclosures required by the Hong Kong Companies Ordinance and Listing Rules of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange.

2. Going Concern

The financial statements are presented on a going concern basis.

As at 31 December 2025, the Group’s current assets were RMB18,409,910,340 and current liabilities were RMB18,954,456,246. The amount of current assets was less than the amount of current liabilities. When evaluating whether the Group has sufficient financial resources to continue its operations, the management of the Group has taken its future liquidity position and available financial resources into consideration, mainly including the net cash flows generated from operating activities and the availability of sufficient loan facilities.

Accordingly, the management of the Group considers that the Group will have sufficient working capital to cover operating use and make repayment on matured debts, thus it is appropriate to prepare the Group’s financial statements on a going concern basis.

III. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The specific accounting policies and accounting estimates have been prepared by the Group based on actual production and operation characteristics, as mainly embodied in the provision for bad debts of accounts receivable, inventory valuation methods, inventory impairment provisions, the depreciation of fixed assets, the amortisation of intangible assets, and revenue recognition and measurement.

3. Functional currency

The Company's functional and presentation currency is Renminbi ("RMB"). Unless otherwise stated, the currency unit is RMB Yuan.

The subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates of the Group may determine their own functional currencies based on the specific economic environments in their places of business. In the preparation of financial statements, their functional currencies shall be translated into RMB.

5. Business combinations

The Group only has business combinations not involving entities under common control.

A business combination not involving entities under common control is a business combination in which all the combining entities are not ultimately controlled by the same party or parties both before and after the combination. The acquirer shall measure the acquiree's identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities acquired in the business combination at their fair values on the acquisition date. Goodwill is initially recognized and measured at cost, being an excess of the cost of the combination over the Group's interest in the fair value of the acquiree's net identifiable assets. After initial recognition, goodwill is measured at cost less than any accumulated impairment losses. Where the cost of the combination is lower than the Group's interest in the fair value of the acquiree's net identifiable assets, the Group reassesses the measurement of the fair value of the acquiree's identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities and the cost of the combination. If the cost of the combination is lower than the Group's interest in the fair value of the net identifiable assets acquired, the difference is, after reassessment, recognized in profit or loss.

6. Consolidated financial statements

The scope of the consolidated financial statements is determined on the basis of control, which include the financial statements of the Company and all of its subsidiaries. A subsidiary is an entity that is controlled by the Company (such as an enterprise, a deemed separate entity, or a structured entity controlled by the Company). An investor controls an investee if and only if the investor has all the following: (a) power over the investee; (b) exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee; and (c) the ability to use its power over the investee to affect the amount of the investor's returns.

If the accounting policies or the accounting period of a subsidiary are different from those of the Company, necessary adjustments are made to the subsidiary's financial statements based on the Company's own accounting policies or accounting period in preparing the consolidated financial statements. All intra-group assets and liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows relating to transactions within the Group are eliminated on consolidation in full.

Where the loss for the current period attributable to non-controlling interests of a subsidiary exceeds the non-controlling interests of the opening balance of equity of the subsidiary, the excess amount is allocated against the non-controlling interests.

For subsidiaries acquired through business combinations not involving entities under common control, the financial performance and cash flows of the acquiree shall be consolidated from the date on which the Group obtains control, and continue to be consolidated until the date such control ceases. While preparing the consolidated financial statements, the Group shall adjust the subsidiary's financial statements based on the fair values of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities recognised on the acquisition date.

The Group reassesses whether or not it controls an investee if any change in facts and circumstances indicates that there are changes to one or more elements of control.

A change in the non-controlling interests, without a loss of control, is accounted for as an equity transaction.

III. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES (continued)

7. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash comprises the Group's cash on hand and deposits that can be readily withdrawn on demand. Cash equivalents are short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash, subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

8. Foreign currency transactions and foreign currency translation

The Group translates foreign currency transactions into its functional currency.

Foreign currency transactions are recorded, on initial recognition in the functional currency using the spot exchange rates prevailing at the dates of transactions. At the balance sheet date, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the spot exchange rates at the balance sheet date. Differences arising on settlement or translation of monetary items are recognised in profit or loss, with the exception of those relating to foreign currency borrowings specifically for the construction and acquisition of qualifying assets, which are capitalised in accordance with the guidance for capitalisation of borrowing costs. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates on initial recognition, and the amount denominated in the functional currency is not changed. Non-monetary items measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value was measured. The resulting exchange differences are recognised in profit or loss or other comprehensive income depending on the nature of the non-monetary items.

For foreign operations, the Group translates their functional currency amounts into RMB when preparing the financial statements as follows: the assets and liabilities are translated using the spot exchange rates at the balance sheet date, and equity items other than "unappropriated profit" are translated at the spot exchange rates at the dates of transactions; revenue and expense items in profit or loss are translated using the weighted average exchange rates for the period during which the transactions occur (unless this is inappropriate due to exchange rate fluctuations, in which case the spot exchange rates prevailing on the dates of the transactions are used). The resulting exchange differences are recognised in other comprehensive income.

Foreign currency cash flows and the cash flows of foreign subsidiaries are translated using the weighted average exchange rates for the period during which the cash flows occur (unless this is inappropriate due to exchange rate fluctuations, in which case the spot exchange rates prevailing on the dates of cash flows are used). The effect of exchange rate changes on cash is separately presented as an adjustment item in the statement of cash flows.

III. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES (continued)

9. Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

(1) Recognition and derecognition

The Group recognises a financial asset or a financial liability when it becomes a party to the contractual provisions of a financial instrument.

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e., removed from the Group's consolidated balance sheet) when:

- (1) the rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset have expired;
- (2) the Group has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the financial asset, or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a "pass-through" arrangement; and either (a) has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the financial asset, or (b) has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the financial asset.

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled, or expires. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and a recognition of a new liability, and the difference between the respective carrying amounts is recognised in profit or loss.

Regular way purchases and sales of financial assets are recognised and derecognised using trade date accounting. Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets under contracts whose terms require delivery within the time frame generally established by regulation or convention in the marketplace concerned. The trade date is the date that the Group commits to purchase or sell a financial asset.

(2) Classification and measurement of financial assets

The classification of financial assets at initial recognition depends on the financial asset's contractual cash flow characteristics and the Group's business model for managing them: financial assets at amortised cost, financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income, and financial assets at fair value through profit or loss.

With the exception of accounts receivable or notes receivable arising from the sale of goods or rendering of services that do not contain significant financing components or for which the Group has applied the practical expedient of not adjusting the effect of a significant financing component due within one year, financial assets are measured at fair value on initial recognition. Accounts receivable or notes receivable that do not contain significant financing components or for which the Group has applied the practical expedient are initially measured at the transaction price.

9. Financial instruments (continued)

For financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, relevant transaction costs are directly recognised in profit or loss, and transaction costs relating to other financial assets are included in the initial recognition amounts.

The subsequent measurement of financial assets depends on their classification as follows:

Debt investments measured at amortised cost

The Group measures financial assets at amortised cost if both of the following conditions are met: (a) the financial asset is held within a business model with the objective to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and (b) the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. Debt investments at amortised cost are subsequently measured using the effective interest method and are subject to impairment. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the asset is derecognised, modified or impaired.

Debt investments at fair value through other comprehensive income

The Group measures debt investments at fair value through other comprehensive income if both of the following conditions are met: (a) the financial asset is held within a business model with the objective of both holding to collect contractual cash flows and selling; and (b) the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. Interest income is recognised using the effective interest method. The interest income, impairment losses and foreign exchange revaluation are recognised in profit or loss. The remaining fair value changes are recognised in other comprehensive income. Upon derecognition, the cumulative fair value change recognised in other comprehensive income is recycled to profit or loss.

Equity investments at fair value through other comprehensive income

The Group irrevocably elects to designate its equity investments which are not held for trading as financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income, and only dividend income (excluding the dividend income explicitly recovered as part of the investment cost) is recognised in profit or loss. Subsequent changes in the fair value are included in other comprehensive income, and no provision for impairment is required. Upon derecognition, the cumulative fair value change recognised in other comprehensive income is recycled to retained earnings.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

The financial assets other than the above financial assets measured at amortised cost and financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income are classified as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss. Such financial assets are subsequently measured at fair value with net changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss.

9. Financial instruments (continued)

(3) Classification and measurement of financial liabilities

The Group's financial liabilities are, on initial recognition, classified into financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, or financial liabilities measured at amortised cost. For financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, relevant transaction costs are directly recognised in profit or loss, and transaction costs relating to financial liabilities measured at amortised cost are included in the initial recognition amounts.

The subsequent measurement of financial liabilities depends on its classification as follows:

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading (including derivative instruments attributable to financial liabilities) and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition as at fair value through profit or loss. Financial liabilities held for trading (including derivative instruments attributable to financial liabilities) are subsequently measured at fair value. All changes in fair value of such financial liabilities are recognised in profit or loss. Financial liabilities designated at fair value through profit or loss are subsequently measured at fair value and gains or losses are recognised in profit or loss, except for the gains or losses arising from the Group's own credit risk which are recognised in other comprehensive income. If gains or losses arising from the Group's own credit risk which are presented in other comprehensive income will lead to or expand accounting mismatch in profit or loss, the Group will recognise all the changes in fair value (including the amount arising from changes in the Group's own credit risk) of such financial liabilities in profit or loss.

Financial liabilities carried at amortised cost

After initial recognition, such financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

(4) Impairment of financial instruments

Recognition and accounting treatments of expected credit losses

Based on the expected credit losses ("ECLs"), the Group recognises an allowance for ECLs for the financial assets measured at amortised cost, and debt investments at fair value through other comprehensive income.

For accounts receivable and contract assets that do not contain a significant financing component, the Company applies the simplified approach to recognise a loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs.

Year ended 31 December 2025 (Expressed in Renminbi Yuan)

Recognition and accounting treatments of expected credit losses (continued)

Except for financial assets which apply the simplified approach as mentioned above, the Group assesses whether the credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition at each balance sheet date. If the credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition (stage 1), the loss allowance is measured at an amount equal to 12-month ECLs by the Group and the interest income is calculated according to the carrying amount and the effective interest rate; if the credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition but are not credit-impaired (stage 2), the loss allowance is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs by the Group and the interest income is calculated according to the carrying amount and the effective interest rate; if such financial assets are credit-impaired after initial recognition (stage 3), the loss allowance is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs by the Group and the interest income is calculated according to the amortised cost and the effective interest rate. If the credit risk of financial instruments is low at the balance sheet date, the Group assumes that the credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition.

Please refer to Note IX. 1 for the Group's criteria for determining significant increase in credit risk, definition of financial assets that have been credit-impaired, etc.

The Group measures expected credit losses on a financial instrument in a way that reflects: (a) an unbiased and probability-weighted amount that is determined by evaluating a range of possible outcomes; (b) the time value of money; and (c) reasonable and supportable information that is available without undue cost or effort at the balance sheet date about past events, current conditions and forecasts of future economic conditions.

Classification and recognition basis for impairment provision made on portfolio basis of credit risk characteristics

Considering the credit risk characteristics of different clients, the Company calculates expected credit losses for financial instruments measured at amortised cost by ageing portfolio and based on shared credit risk characteristics.

Ageing calculation method based on credit risk characteristics

The Group determines overdue ageing based on the contractually agreed collection date.

Criteria for individual impairment provisions

If a counterparty exhibits significantly different credit risk characteristics compared to others in the portfolio, the Group assesses and recognises a loss provision individually for the related receivables. The Group categorises accounts receivable into the cement portfolio, concrete portfolio, and other portfolios based on credit risk characteristics, applying a portfolio-based ECL calculation. If there is objective evidence that a specific trade receivable has been impaired, expected credit losses will be recognised by the Group and a provision for individual impairment will be made. For accounts receivable classified within a portfolio, the Group determines ECL by considering historical credit loss experience, current situation and forecasts of economic conditions. The calculation incorporates exposure at default and the lifetime ECL rate to estimate the expected credit loss.

Write-off of impairment provisions

The Group directly reduces the gross carrying amount of a financial asset when the Group has no reasonable expectations of recovering a financial asset in its entirety or a portion thereof.

(5) Derivative financial instruments

The Group uses derivative financial instruments. Such derivative financial instruments are initially recognised at fair value on the date on which a derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently measured at fair value. Derivatives are carried as assets when the fair value is positive and as liabilities when the fair value is negative.

Any profit or loss arising from changes in fair value of derivatives are taken directly in profit or loss.

(6) Transfers of financial assets

A financial asset is derecognised when the Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset to the transferee. A financial asset is not derecognised when the Group retains substantially all the risks and rewards of the financial asset.

When the Group has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the financial asset, it either (a) derecognises the financial asset and recognises the assets and liabilities created in the transfer when it has not retained control of the asset; or (b) continues to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of the Group's continuing involvement, in which case, the Group also recognises an associated liability.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred financial asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the financial asset and the guarantee amount. The guarantee amount is the maximum amount of consideration that the Group could be required to repay.

10. Inventories

Inventories include raw materials, work in progress, finished goods, spare parts and turnover materials, etc.

Inventories are initially carried at cost. Cost of inventories comprises all costs of purchase, costs of conversion and other costs. Cost is determined on the weighted average basis. Turnover materials include low value consumables and packing materials, which are accounted for on the immediate write-off basis.

The Group adopts a perpetual inventory system.

At the balance sheet date, inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. If the cost of inventories is higher than the net realisable value, a provision for the decline in value of inventories is recognised in profit or loss for the current period. If the factors that previously resulted in the provision for decline in value of inventories no longer exist and result in the net realisable value being higher than the carrying amount, the amount of the write-down is reversed to the extent of the amount of the previous provision for the inventories and is recognised in profit or loss for the current period.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less the estimated costs to completion and the estimated expenses and the related taxes necessary to make the sale. The provision for decline in value is made on an individual basis, provided that for inventories with large quantity and lower unit cost, the provision for decline in value is made on a category basis. For inventories related to a series of products manufactured and sold in the same area, and of which the final use or purpose is identical or similar, and if it is difficult to measure them by separating them from other items, the provision for decline in value of inventories are made on a combination basis.

11. Long-term equity investments

Long-term equity investments include equity investments in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates.

A long-term equity investment is initially measured at its initial investment cost on acquisition. For a business combination involving entities under common control, the initial investment cost of the long-term equity investment is the combination cost (for a business combination not under common control achieved in stages, the initial investment cost is measured at the carrying amount of the equity investments in the acquiree before the acquisition date plus the additional investment cost incurred on the acquisition date). For a long-term equity investment acquired other than through a business combination, the initial investment cost is determined as follows: if acquired by paying cash, the initial investment cost is the actual purchase price paid and those costs, taxes and other necessary expenditures directly attributable to the acquisition of the long-term equity investment; if acquired by the issue of equity securities, the initial investment cost is the fair value of the securities issued.

For a long-term equity investment where the Company can exercise control over the investee, the long-term investment is accounted for using the cost method in the Company's individual financial statements. Control is achieved when the Group is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee and has the ability to affect those returns through its power over the investee.

11. Long-term equity investments (continued)

Under the cost method, the long-term equity investment is measured at its initial investment cost. When additional investment is made or the investment is recouped, the cost of long-term equity investment is adjusted accordingly. Cash dividends or profit distributions declared by the investee are recognised as investment income in profit or loss.

The equity method is adopted when the Group has joint control, or exercises significant influence over the investee. Joint control is the contractually agreed sharing of control of an arrangement, which exists only when decisions about the relevant activities require the unanimous consent of the parties sharing control. Significant influence is the power to participate in the financial and operating policy decisions of the investee, but is not control or joint control with other parties over those policies.

Under the equity method, where the initial investment cost of a long-term equity investment exceeds the investing enterprise's interest in the fair value of the investee's identifiable net assets at the acquisition date, the long-term equity investment is measured at the initial investment cost. Where the initial investment cost is less than the investing enterprise's interest in the fair value of the investee's identifiable net assets at the acquisition date, the difference is charged to profit or loss, and the cost of the long-term equity investment is adjusted accordingly.

Under the equity method, the Group recognises, upon acquisition of the long-term equity investment, its share of the net profits or losses and other comprehensive income made by the investee as investment income or losses and other comprehensive income, respectively, and adjusts the carrying amount of the long-term equity investment accordingly. The Group recognises its share of the investee's net profits or losses after making appropriate adjustments to the investee's net profits or losses, except for those from dispensing or selling businesses constituted by assets, based on the fair value of the investee's identifiable assets at the acquisition date, using the Group's accounting policies and periods, and eliminating the portion of the profits or losses arising from internal transactions with its associates and joint ventures, attributable to the investing party according to its entitled ratio (but impairment losses for assets arising from internal transactions shall be recognised in full). The carrying amount of the investment is reduced based on the Group's share of any profit distributions or cash dividends declared by the investee. The Group's share of net losses of the investee is recognised to the extent that the carrying amount of the investment, together with any long-term interests that in substance form part of its net investment in the investee, is reduced to zero, except that the Group has incurred obligations to assume additional losses. The Group adjusts the carrying amount of the long-term equity investment for any changes in the shareholders' equity of the investee (other than net profit or loss, other comprehensive income and profit distributions) and includes the corresponding adjustments in the shareholders' equity.

12. Fixed assets

A fixed asset is recognised only when the economic benefits associated with the asset will probably flow into the Group and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Subsequent expenditures incurred for a fixed asset that meets the recognition criteria shall be included in the cost of the fixed asset, and the carrying amount of the component of the fixed asset that is replaced shall be derecognised. Otherwise, such expenditures are recognised in profit or loss or the cost of related assets as incurred, according to the beneficiaries.

Fixed assets are initially measured at cost. The cost of a purchased fixed asset comprises the purchase price, relevant taxes and any directly attributable expenditure for bringing the asset to working condition for its intended use.

Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method, except for safety production funds. The useful lives, percentages of estimated residual value and annual depreciation rates are as follows:

	Useful life	Percentage of estimated residual value	Annual depreciation rate
Buildings	25–40 years	4%	2.4%–3.8%
Machinery	5–18 years	4%	5.3%–19.2%
Office equipment	5–10 years	4%	9.6%–19.2%
Vehicles	4–12 years	4%	8.0%–24.0%

The Group reviews the useful life and estimates net residual value of a fixed asset and the depreciation method applied at least at each year end, and makes adjustments if necessary.

13. Construction in progress

The cost of construction in progress is determined according to the actual expenditures incurred for the construction, including all necessary construction expenditures incurred during the construction period, borrowing costs that shall be capitalised before the construction is ready for its intended use, and other relevant expenditures.

An item of construction in progress is transferred to fixed assets when the asset is ready for its intended use. The standards are as follows:

	Standards for transferring to fixed assets
Buildings	Commencement of use
Machinery and equipment	Fulfilment of the design requirements and completion of the trial production

III. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES (continued)

14. Borrowing costs

The borrowing costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalised. The amounts of other borrowing costs incurred are recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

The capitalisation of borrowing costs commences only when the expenditures for the asset and the borrowing costs have been incurred, and the activities that are necessary to acquire, construct or produce the asset for its intended use or sale have been undertaken.

Capitalisation of borrowing costs ceases when the qualifying asset being acquired, constructed or produced gets ready for its intended use or sale. Any borrowing costs subsequently incurred are recognised in profit or loss.

During the capitalisation period, the amount of interest eligible for capitalisation for each accounting period shall be determined as follows: where funds are borrowed specifically for the purpose of obtaining a qualifying asset, the amount of interest eligible for capitalisation is the actual interest costs incurred on that borrowing for the period less any bank interest earned from depositing the borrowed funds before being used on the asset or any investment income on the temporary investment of those funds; where funds are borrowed generally for the purpose of obtaining a qualifying asset, the amount of interest eligible for capitalisation is determined by applying a weighted average interest rate on the general borrowings to the weighted average of the excess of the cumulative expenditures on the asset over the expenditures on the asset funded by the specific borrowings.

Capitalisation of borrowing costs is suspended during periods in which the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset is suspended abnormally by activities other than those necessary to get the asset ready for its intended use or sale, when the suspension is for a continuous period of more than 3 months. Borrowing costs incurred during these periods are recognised as an expense in profit or loss until the acquisition, construction or production is resumed.

15. Intangible assets

Useful lives of intangible assets

The intangible assets are amortised using the straight-line method over their useful lives. The useful lives are as follows:

	Useful life
Land use rights	40–50 years
Mining rights	Amortisation on the basis of production
Mine restoration fees	Amortisation on the basis of production
Concession rights	10–20 years
Software use rights and others	5–10 years

Research and development expenditure

The Group classifies expenditure for an internal research and development project into expenditure in the research phase and expenditure in the development phase. Expenditure in the research phase is recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred. Expenditure in the development phase is capitalised when the Group can demonstrate all of the following: (a) the technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale; (b) the intention to complete the intangible asset and use or sell it; (c) how the intangible asset will generate probable future economic benefits, for which, among other things, the Group can demonstrate the existence of a market for the output of the intangible asset or the intangible asset itself or, if it is to be used internally, the usefulness of the intangible asset; (d) the availability of adequate technical, financial and other resources to complete the development and the ability to use or sell the intangible asset; and (e) the expenditure attributable to the intangible asset during its development can be measured reliably. Expenditure on the development phase that does not meet these criteria is recognised in profit or loss for the period in which it is incurred.

16. Impairment of assets

Impairment of assets other than the impairment of inventories, deferred tax assets and financial assets, is determined in the following way: the Group assesses at the balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired; if any indication exists that an asset may be impaired, the Group estimates the recoverable amount of the asset and performs impairment testing; goodwill arising from a business combination, intangible assets with indefinite useful lives and intangible assets not yet available for use are tested for impairment at least at each year end, irrespective of whether there is any indication that the asset may be impaired.

The recoverable amount of an asset is the higher of its fair value less costs of disposal and the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the asset. The Group estimates the recoverable amount on an individual basis unless it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of the individual asset, in which case the recoverable amount is determined for the asset group to which the asset belongs. Identification of an asset group is based on whether major cash inflows generated by the asset group are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or asset groups.

Identification of an asset group is based on whether major cash inflows generated by the asset group are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or asset groups.

When the recoverable amount of an asset or asset group is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to the recoverable amount by the Group. The reduction in the carrying amount is treated as an impairment loss and recognised in profit or loss. A provision for impairment loss of the asset is recognised accordingly.

For the purpose of impairment testing, the carrying amount of goodwill is allocated from the acquisition date on a reasonable basis, to each of the related asset groups or the related sets of asset groups. Each of the related asset groups or sets of asset groups is an asset group or a set of asset groups that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the business combination and shall not be larger than an operating segment as determined by the Group.

16. Impairment of assets (continued)

The carrying amount of an asset group or a set of asset groups, including goodwill, shall be compared to its recoverable amount. If the recoverable amount of the asset group or set of asset groups is lower than the carrying amount, the amount of the impairment loss is first reduced by the carrying amount of the goodwill allocated to the asset group or set of asset groups, and then by the carrying amount of other assets (other than the goodwill) within the asset group or set of asset groups, on a pro rata basis based on the carrying amount of each asset.

Once the above asset impairment loss is recognised, it cannot be reversed in subsequent accounting periods.

17. Long-term prepaid expenses

Long-term prepaid expenses represent expenditures incurred but should be recognised as expenses over more than one year in the current year and subsequent periods, including mine development expenses and residents' relocation expenses. Long-term prepaid expenses are amortised using the straight-line method and the production method according to the period over which they are estimated to generate economic benefits for the Group.

18. Employee benefits

Employee benefits refer to all forms of consideration or compensation given by the Group other than share-based payments in exchange for services rendered by employees or for termination of employment. Employee benefits include short-term employee benefits, post-employment benefits, termination benefits and other long-term employee benefits.

(1) Short-term benefits

Short-term employee benefits incurred are recognised as a liability in the accounting period in which an employee provides services, with a corresponding charge to profit or loss or the cost of an asset.

(2) Post-employment benefits (defined contribution plan)

For the employees of the Group participating in a pension scheme, unemployment insurance managed by the local government, and an enterprise pension fund, the corresponding expenses are included in the cost of related assets or profit or loss.

(3) Post-employment benefits (defined benefit plan)

The Group operates various defined benefit pension plans, which include providing certain eligible retirees of the Company and its subsidiaries with supplementary allowance benefits. These plans are impacted by interest rate risk and changes in the life expectancy of eligible retirees.

18. Employee benefits (continued)

The items to be remeasured as a result of the defined benefit pension plan, which include actuarial gains or losses, movements arising from the asset cap (net of amounts included in net interest of liabilities in the defined benefit plan) and return on plan assets (net of amounts included in net interest of liabilities in the defined benefit plan), are all immediately recognised in the balance sheet, and are included in shareholders' equity through other comprehensive income during the period in which they are incurred. They will not be reversed to profit or loss in subsequent periods.

The past service costs are recognised as expenses for the current period when the defined benefit plan is modified or when the Group recognises relevant restructuring costs or termination benefits, whichever occurs earlier.

Net interest is calculated by multiplying net liabilities or net assets of the defined benefit plan by the discount rate. The Group recognises changes in net liabilities of the defined benefit plan under operating costs, administrative expenses, research and development expenses, selling expenses and finance expenses in the income statement. Service cost includes current service cost, past service cost and gains or losses on settlement; net interest includes interest income on plan assets, interest expenses on plan obligations and interest arising from the asset cap.

19. Provisions

Except for contingent considerations and contingent liabilities assumed in a business combination not involving entities under common control, an obligation related to a contingency shall be recognised by the Group as a provision when the obligation is a present obligation of the Group and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits from the Group will be required to settle the obligation, provided that a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation can be made.

A provision is initially measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the related present obligation, taking into account factors pertaining to a contingency such as the risks, uncertainties and time value of money as a whole. Provisions are reviewed and adjusted appropriately at each balance sheet date to reflect the current best estimate.

20. Share-based payments

Share-based payments consist only of equity-settled share-based payments. Equity-settled share-based payments refer to transactions in which the Group acquires services by issuing shares or other equity instruments as consideration.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended 31 December 2025 (Expressed in Renminbi Yuan)

20. Share-based payments (continued)

For equity-settled share-based payments in exchange for employee services, they are measured at the fair value of the equity instruments granted to employees. For grants that are exercised immediately after the grant date, the fair value on the grant date is recognised in the relevant costs or expenses, with a corresponding increase in share premium. For grants that are only exercisable after completing a vesting period or meeting specified performance conditions, during the vesting period, at each balance sheet date, the service received is recognised in the relevant costs or expenses based on the best estimate of the number of equity instruments expected to vest, at the fair value determined on the grant date, with a corresponding increase in share premium.

21. Preference shares and other financial instruments

Other financial instruments including preference shares issued by the Group are measured as equity instruments when they satisfy all the following criteria:

- (1) The financial instruments do not include cash or other financial assets delivered to other parties, or contractual obligations to exchange financial assets or liabilities with other parties under potential disadvantages;
- (2) When the Group's own equity instrument is required to or available to be used for settlement of the financial instrument, it does not include the contractual obligations to settle the Group's own variable equity instruments if it is a non-derivative instrument; if it is a derivative instrument, the Group can only settle the instrument by exchanging certain amount of its own equity instruments with fixed amount of cash or other financial assets.

Preference shares issued by the Group that do not satisfy the above criteria are classified as financial liabilities.

For preference shares classified as financial liabilities, any gains or losses arising from changes in fair value and the dividends or interest expenses related to such financial liabilities, and any gains or losses arising from repurchase or redemption are recognised in profit or loss for the period.

22. Revenue from contracts with customers

Revenue from contracts with customers is recognised when the Group has fulfilled its performance obligations in the contracts, that is, when the customer obtains control of relevant goods or services. Control of relevant goods or services refers to the ability to direct the use of the goods, or the provision of the services, and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from the goods or services.

(1) Contracts for the sale of cement and other construction materials

The Group recognises revenue from the sale of cement and other construction materials when the control of the goods has been transferred to the customer. According to the sales contract, the point of recognition of sales revenue is usually when the cement and other construction materials are shipped out of the Group's own warehouses or designated warehouses.

22. Revenue from contracts with customers (continued)

The Group uses the amount of consideration that it expects to be entitled to receive as a result of the transfer of merchandise to customers as the transaction price, which is determined in accordance with the terms of the contract, taking into account past business practices. Some of the Group's contracts include provisions for certain discounts when customers purchase merchandise over a certain quantity, which are directly offset against the amount payable by the customer for the merchandise purchased in the current period. The Group makes its best estimate of the discount in accordance with the expectation that the transaction price after the estimated discount will not exceed the amount by which it is highly probable that the cumulative recognised revenue will not be materially reversed by the time the related uncertainty is eliminated, and re-estimates the discount at each balance sheet date.

For the existence of significant financing components in the contract, the Group determines the transaction price based on the amount payable immediately by cash upon the receipt of control of goods or services by the customer, and uses the discount rate which discounts the nominal amount of the contract consideration to the discounted price of the goods or services to amortise the difference between the determined transaction price and the consideration amount of the contract commitment using the effective interest method during the contract period. Where it is expected that the intervals between the customer's control over the goods and services and the payment by the customer will not exceed one year, the Group does not consider the significant financing components in the contract.

(2) Contracts for the rendering of services

The Group fulfils its performance obligations through the provision of services such as solid waste treatment and governmental household waste treatment to its customers. Since the economic benefits arising from the Group's performance are obtained and consumed by the customers at the same time as the Group's performance, the Group recognises revenue in accordance with the progress of performance as performance obligations fulfilled in a certain period of time, unless the progress of performance is not reasonably determinable. The Group determines the progress of performance in the provision of services in accordance with the input method. When the progress of performance is not reasonably determinable, the Group recognises revenue at the amount of costs incurred until the progress of performance is reasonably determinable, provided that the costs incurred by the Group are expected to be reimbursed.

23. Contract assets and contract liabilities

The Group presents contract assets or contract liabilities depending on the relationship between the satisfaction of its performance obligations and the customer's payment in the balance sheet.

(1) Contract assets

The Group presents its right to consideration in exchange for goods or services as a contract asset (the right to consideration is conditional on other factors excluding the passage of time) if the Group performs by transferring goods or services to a customer before the customer pays consideration or before payment is due. The Group presents it as an account receivable when the Group has the right to consideration, which is unconditional subsequently.

Year ended 31 December 2025 (Expressed in Renminbi Yuan)

23. Contract assets and contract liabilities (continued)

(1) Contract assets (continued)

For details of how the Group measures and accounts for the ECLs of a contract asset, refer to Note III. 9.

(2) Contract liabilities

The Group presents its obligation to transfer goods or services to a customer, for which the Group has received consideration or the Group has a right to an amount of consideration that is unconditional (i.e., a receivable) from the customer, as a contract liability.

24. Contract cost assets

The Group's contract cost assets include the costs to obtain and fulfil a contract and are classified by liquidity as inventories, other current assets and other non-current assets.

The Group recognises as an asset the incremental costs of obtaining a contract with a customer if the Group expects to recover those costs, unless the amortisation period of the asset is one year or less.

Other than the costs which are capitalised as items such as inventories, fixed assets and intangible assets, costs incurred to fulfil a contract with a customer are capitalised as an asset if all of the following criteria are met:

- (1) the costs relate directly to a contract or to an anticipated contract, including direct labour, direct materials, overheads (or similar expenses), costs that are explicitly chargeable to the customer and other costs that are incurred only because an entity entered into the contract;
- (2) the costs generate or enhance resources of the Group that will be used in satisfying performance obligations in the future; and
- (3) the costs are expected to be recovered.

The contract cost asset is amortised and charged to profit or loss on a systematic basis that is consistent with the pattern of the revenue to which the asset related is recognised.

The Group accrues provisions for impairment and recognises impairment losses to the extent that the carrying amount of a contract cost asset exceeds:

- (1) the remaining amount of consideration that the entity expects to receive in exchange for the goods or services to which the asset relates; less
- (2) the costs that are expected to be incurred to transfer those related goods or services.

25. Government grants

Government grants are recognised when all attaching conditions can be complied with and the grant will be received. If a government grant is in the form of a transfer of a monetary asset, it is measured at the amount received or receivable. If a government grant is in the form of a transfer of a non-monetary asset, it is measured at fair value; if fair value cannot be reliably determined, it is measured at a nominal amount.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended 31 December 2025 (Expressed in Renminbi Yuan)

25. Government grants (continued)

Government grants shall be recognised as government grants related to assets where long-term assets are built or otherwise developed in accordance with the requirements of government documents. If there are no specific requirements of government documents, judgement shall be exercised based on the basic conditions required for the grants. Government grants shall be recognised as government grants related to assets where the building or otherwise development of long-term assets is considered as the basic condition; otherwise, they shall be recognised as government grants related to income.

A government grant related to income is accounted for as follows: (a) if the grant is a compensation for related expenses or losses to be incurred in subsequent periods, the grant is recognised as deferred income, and recognised in profit or loss or offset against related expenses over the periods in which the related costs are recognised or (b) if the grant is a compensation for related expenses or losses already incurred, it is recognised immediately in profit or loss or offset against relevant expenses.

A government grant relating to an asset shall be offset against the carrying amounts of relevant assets, or recognised as deferred income and amortised in profit or loss over the useful life of the related asset by annual instalments in a systematic and rational way (however, a government grant measured at a nominal amount is recognised directly in profit or loss). Where the assets are sold, transferred, retired or damaged before the end of their useful lives, the rest of the remaining deferred income is released to profit or loss for the period in which the relevant assets are disposed of.

26. Deferred income tax

Deferred tax is provided using the balance sheet liability method, on all temporary differences at the balance sheet date between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts, and on the temporary differences between the tax bases and the carrying amounts of the items, which have a tax base according to related tax laws but are not recognised as assets and liabilities.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except:

- (1) when the taxable temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of goodwill, or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss and does not give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences; and
- (2) in respect of taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures, when the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not be reversed in the foreseeable future.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended 31 December 2025 (Expressed in Renminbi Yuan)

26. Deferred income tax (continued)

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, and the carryforward of unused tax losses and any unused tax credits. Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, the carryforward of unused tax losses and unused tax credits can be utilised, except:

- (1) when the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss and does not give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences; and
- (2) in respect of the deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures, it is probable that the temporary differences will be reversed in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised in the future.

At the balance sheet date, deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the period when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, in accordance with the requirements of tax laws. The measurement of deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Group expects, at the balance sheet date, to recover the assets or settle the liabilities.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the balance sheet date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available in future periods to allow the deferred tax assets to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at the balance sheet date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset if and only if the Group has a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets and current tax liabilities, and the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority on either the same taxable entity or different taxable entities which intend either to settle current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis, or to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously, in each future period in which significant amounts of deferred tax liabilities or assets are expected to be settled or recovered.

27. Leases

The Group assesses at contract inception whether a contract is, or contains, a lease. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended 31 December 2025 (Expressed in Renminbi Yuan)

III. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES (continued)

27. Leases (continued)

(1) As a lessee

The Group recognises lease liabilities and right-of-use assets, except for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets.

At the commencement date of the lease, the Group recognises right-of-use assets. Right-of-use assets are initially measured at cost. The cost of the right-of-use assets comprises: (a) the amount of the initial measurement of the lease liability; (b) any lease payments made at or before the commencement date of the lease less any lease incentives received; (c) any initial direct cost incurred; and (d) estimates of costs incurred by the lessee in dismantling and removing the underlying asset, restoring the site on which it is located or restoring the underlying assets to the condition required by the terms and conditions of the lease. The Group remeasures the lease liabilities for the revision to the lease payments and adjusts the carrying amount of the right-of-use assets accordingly. The right-of-use assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis subsequently by the Group. If the Group is reasonably certain that the ownership of the underlying assets will be transferred to the Group at the end of the lease term, the Group depreciates the assets from the commencement date to the end of the useful lives of the asset. Otherwise, the Group depreciates the assets from the commencement date to the earlier of the end of the useful lives of the asset and the end of the lease term.

At the commencement date of the lease, the Group measures the lease liabilities at the present value of the lease payments that are not paid at that date, except for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets. The lease payments include fixed payments (including in-substance fixed payments) less any lease incentives receivable, variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate, and amounts expected to be paid under residual value guarantees. The lease payments also include the exercise price of a purchase option reasonably certain to be exercised by the Group and payments of penalties for termination of a lease, if the lease term reflects the Group exercising the option to terminate the lease. Variable lease payments that are not included in the measurement of the lease liabilities are recognised in profit or loss as incurred, except those in the costs of the related asset as required. In addition, the Group remeasures the lease liabilities at the present value of the revised lease payments upon a change in any of the following: in-substance fixed payments, the amounts expected to be payable under residual value guarantees, the index or rate used to determine lease payments, or the assessment or exercise of the purchase option, the renewal option or the option to terminate the lease.

The Group considers a lease that, at the commencement date of the lease, has a lease term of 12 months or less, and does not contain any purchase option as a short-term lease; and a lease of the individual underlying asset with low value, when new, as a lease of low-value assets. The Group does not recognise the right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets. The Group recognises lease payments on short-term leases and leases of low-value assets in the costs of the related asset or profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease terms.

27. Leases (continued)

(2) As a lessor

A lease is classified as a finance lease if it transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an underlying asset, except that a lease is classified as an operating lease at the inception date.

Rental income under an operating lease is recognised on a straight-line basis over the lease term through profit or loss. Variable lease payments that are not included in the measurement of the lease receivables are charged to profit or loss as incurred. Initial direct costs are capitalised and recognised over the lease term on the same basis as rental income, through profit or loss.

28. Share repurchases

Consideration and transaction costs paid for the repurchase of own equity instruments reduce shareholders' equity. Except for share-based payments, the issuance (including refinancing), repurchase, sale or cancellation of own equity instruments is treated as a change in equity.

29. Production safety cost

Safety production funds according to the regulations are included in the costs of related products or profit or loss, and credited to the specialised reserves. They are accounted for differently when being utilised: (a) the specialised reserves are offset for those attributable to the expense nature; or (b) the cumulative expenditures are recognised as a fixed asset for those attributable to the fixed asset nature when the asset is brought to the working condition for the intended use, and at the same time, specialised reserves are offset by the full depreciation of the fixed asset, at the same amount.

30. Fair value measurement

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole: Level 1 inputs — quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date; Level 2 inputs — the observable inputs, either directly or indirectly, of the relevant assets or liabilities other than Level 1 inputs; Level 3 inputs — unobservable inputs of the relevant assets or liabilities.

For assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Group determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by reassessment.

31. Significant accounting judgements and estimates

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, assets and liabilities, and their accompanying disclosures, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities at the balance sheet date. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that could require a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of the assets or liabilities affected in the future.

31. Significant accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(1) Judgements

In the process of applying the Group's accounting policies, management has made the following judgements which have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

Business models

The classification of financial assets at initial recognition depends on the Group's business model for managing financial assets. When determining the business model, the Group considers the factors such as the methods used to evaluate and report financial asset performance to key management, the risks affecting the performance of financial assets and risk management, and the manner in which the relevant management receives remuneration. When assessing whether the objective is to collect contractual cash flows, the Group needs to analyse and judge the reason, timing, frequency and value of the sale before the maturity date of the financial assets.

Characteristics of contractual cash flows

The classification of financial assets at initial recognition depends on the financial asset's contractual cash flow characteristics, and the judgements on whether the contractual cash flows are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding, such as the judgement on whether there is any significant difference from the benchmark cash flow when assessing the modification of the time value of money and the judgement on whether the fair value of the prepayment features is insignificant for financial assets with prepayment features.

Lease term — A lease contract that does not contain an option to extend the lease

The Group determines the lease term as the non-cancellable period of a lease, excluding the periods covered by an option to extend the lease if the Group is reasonably certain to exercise that option. In assessing whether it is reasonably certain to exercise an option to extend the lease, the Group considers all relevant facts and circumstances that create an economic incentive for it to exercise, or not to exercise, the option, including any expected changes in facts and circumstances from the commencement date of the lease until the exercise date of the option. At the commencement date of the lease, considering that the exit cost is insignificant, the Group evaluates all the relevant facts to determine whether to exercise the option or not. Thus, the lease period does not contain the periods covered by an option to extend the lease.

(2) Estimation uncertainty

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the balance sheet date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the future accounting periods, are described below.

31. Significant accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Impairment of financial instruments

The Group uses the expected credit loss model to assess the impairment of financial instruments. The Group is required to perform significant judgement and estimation and take into account all reasonable and supportable information, including forward-looking information. When making such judgements and estimates, the Group infers the expected changes in the debtor's credit risk based on historical repayment data combined with economic policies, macroeconomic indicators, industry risks and other factors. The different estimates may impact the impairment assessment, and the provision for impairment may not be representative of the actual impairment loss in the future.

Impairment of non-current assets other than financial assets (other than goodwill)

The Group assesses whether there are any indications of impairment for all non-current assets other than financial assets at the balance sheet date. Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives are tested for impairment annually and at other times when such an indication exists. Other non-current assets other than financial assets are tested for impairment when there are indications that the carrying amounts may not be recoverable. An impairment exists when the carrying amount of an asset or asset group exceeds its recoverable amount, which is the higher of its fair value less costs of disposal and the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from it. The calculation of the fair value less costs of disposal based on available data from binding sales transactions in an arm's length transaction of similar assets or observable market prices less incremental costs for disposing of the assets. When the calculations of the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from an asset or asset group are undertaken, management must estimate the expected future cash flows from the asset or asset group and choose a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows. Further details are included in Notes V.13, V.14, V.15, V.16 and V.18.

Impairment of goodwill

The Group determines whether goodwill is impaired at least on an annual basis. This requires an estimation of the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the asset groups or set of asset groups to which the goodwill is allocated. Estimating the present value requires the Group to make an estimate of the expected future cash flows from the asset groups or set of asset groups and also to choose a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows. Further details are included in Note V.17.

Fair value of non-listed equity investments

The Group determines the fair value of non-listed equity investments using the market approach. This requires the Group to ascertain comparable listed companies, select market multiples and make estimates on liquidity discounts, thereby giving rise to uncertainties.

31. Significant accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Deferred tax assets

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all unused tax losses to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the losses can be utilised. Significant management judgement is required to determine the amount of deferred tax assets that can be recognised, based upon the likely timing and level of future taxable profits together with future tax planning strategies.

Lessee's incremental borrowing rate

If the interest rate implicit in the lease cannot be readily determined, the Group measures the lease liability at the present value of the lease payments discounted using the lessee's incremental borrowing rate. According to the economic environment, the Group takes the observable interest rate as the reference basis for determining the incremental borrowing rate, then adjusts the observable interest rate based on its own circumstances, underlying assets, lease terms and amounts of lease liabilities to determine the applicable incremental borrowing rate.

Provision for decline in value of inventories

The Group's inventories are measured at the lower of the costs and net realisable value. Net realisable value of inventory is the estimated selling price of inventory less the estimated costs upon completion of production, the estimated selling expenses and the related taxes and surcharges necessary to make the sale. Management's calculation of the net realisable value of inventory involves the estimation on the estimated selling price, the estimated costs upon completion, the estimated selling expenses and the related taxes and surcharges necessary to make the sale. Any changes in such estimates will affect the carrying amount of the inventory and profit or loss in the year of the future change.

Useful lives and residual values of fixed assets

Fixed assets are depreciated over their estimated useful lives by taking into account their residual values. The Group regularly reviews the estimated useful lives and residual values of relevant assets to determine the total amount of depreciation which will be included in each reporting period. Useful lives and residual values of assets are determined on the basis of the previous experience from assets of the same category and the expected change of technology. If the past estimates change significantly, the depreciation expense is adjusted in the future periods.

Provisions – Mine restoration obligations

The obligations of mine restoration and environmental clean-up are determined by the management based on the historical experience and best estimate of future expenditure after taking into account the existing laws and regulations with expected expenditure discounted to its net present value. With the progress of the current mining activities and the revision and improvement of relevant laws and regulations, the estimation for the related cost may be revised constantly when the restoration plan becomes evident.

(4) Impairment test of fixed assets

The Group determines whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired at the balance sheet date. If there is an indication of impairment, the Group estimates its recoverable amount and performs an impairment test. The recoverable amount is the higher of the fair value of the cash-generating unit, net of disposal costs, and the present value of the cash-generating unit's estimated future cash flows.

The Group recognised an impairment provision for long-term assets of RMB38,898,847 during the year. The reasons and methods used by the Group to make the impairment provision are set out below.

Notes to Financial Statements

V. NOTES TO KEY ITEMS OF CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (continued)

13. Fixed assets (continued)

- 1) Recoverable amount is determined based on the present value of estimated future cash flows.

In 2025, affected by market conditions and other factors, certain subsidiaries of the Group experienced underutilisation of production capacity and continuous operating losses, indicating obvious impairment signs for these asset groups. These asset groups include fixed assets with a carrying amount before impairment of RMB368,880,235, intangible assets of RMB44,587,529, and construction in progress of RMB24,675,178.

- 2) Recoverable amount is determined based on the fair value less costs of disposal.

Some of the Group's individual subsidiaries have construction projects that have halted due to the failure of early-stage planning, and the assets show obvious signs of impairment. These asset groups include construction in progress with a book value of RMB24,273,058 before impairment.

The Group calculates the present value of the projected future cash flows based on the economic life of the main equipment, with the forecast period ranging from 5 to 11 years and a pre-tax discount rate ranging from 13% to 18%. Other key assumptions adopted by the appraisers include the expected sales volume of products in the asset groups, future selling prices, growth rates, expected gross margins, and expense ratios. The Group determines these key assumptions based on the operating performance of the asset group in previous years, industry standards, and forecasts of market development.

Based on the recoverable amount determined by the present value of the expected future cash flows as described above, the Group has provided impairment provisions of RMB20,142,942 and RMB18,755,905 for the fixed assets and construction in progress of these asset groups, respectively, during the year.

The cash-generating units containing goodwill above are constituted by each subsidiary and the cash flow generated is basically independent of other asset groups. There have been no changes in the cash-generating units containing goodwill this year.

The recoverable amount was determined based on the higher of the net amount of the fair value of the assets group less costs to sell and the present value of the estimated future cash flows of the asset group.

The estimated future cash flows of the asset group are based on the five-year financial budget approved by the management at a discount rate of 13%–29% before tax (2024: 12%–24%). The estimated cash flows of these asset groups beyond five years are determined at a fixed growth rate of 0% (2024: 0%) per annum. Other key assumptions adopted during the evaluation include estimated production capacity, future selling price, growth rate, expected gross profit margin and relevant expenditures of the asset product portfolio, and the above assumptions are based on the previous performance of these asset groups, industry standards and the management's expectations of market development.

IX. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND RELATED RISKS

1. Risks of financial instruments

The main risks arising from the Group's financial instruments are credit risk, liquidity risk and market risk.

The board of directors is responsible for planning and establishing the Group's risk management structure, formulating the Group's risk management policies and related guidelines and supervising the implementation of risk management measures. The Group has formulated risk management policies to identify and analyse the risks faced by the Group. These risk management policies specify specific risks and cover a wide range of areas such as market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk management. The Group regularly assesses changes in the market environment and the Group's operations to determine whether to update the risk management policies and systems. The Group's risk management is carried out by the Risk Management Committee in accordance with the policies approved by the board of directors. The Risk Management Committee identifies, evaluates and avoids relevant risks by working closely with other business units of the Group. The Group's internal audit department conducts regular audits on risk management controls and procedures and reports the results of the audits to the Group's Audit Committee.

The Group diversifies its exposure to financial instruments through an appropriately diversified portfolio of investments and businesses, and reduces the risk of concentration in any single industry, in a particular geographic region or with a particular counterparty by establishing appropriate risk management policies.

IX. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND RELATED RISKS (continued)

1. Risks of financial instruments (continued)

(1) Credit risk

The Group only transacts with accredited, reputable third parties. In accordance with the Group's policy, credit checks are required to be performed on all customers who request to transact on credit. In addition, the Group monitors its accounts receivable balances on an ongoing basis to ensure that the Group is not exposed to significant risk of bad debts. The Group does not provide credit transaction terms for transactions that are not settled in the local currency of account of the relevant operating unit, unless specifically approved by the Group's credit control department.

Cash and bank balances, bank acceptance bills and derivative financial instruments are subject to low credit risk because the counterparties to these instruments are reputable banks with high credit ratings.

The Group's other financial assets include accounts receivable, other receivables, long-term receivables and debt investments, which are subject to credit risk arising from default of the counterparties, with the maximum exposure equal to the carrying amount of these instruments.

The maximum exposure to credit risk of the Group at each balance sheet date is the total amount charged to the customers less the amount of the impairment provision.

No collateral is required as the Group only transacts with recognised and reputable third parties. Credit risk concentrations are managed by customer/counterparty, geographical area and industry. There are no significant concentrations of credit risk within the Group as the customer base of the Group's accounts receivable is widely dispersed across different sectors and industries. The Group does not hold any collateral or other credit enhancements over its accounts receivable balances.

Criteria for judging significant increase in credit risk

The Group assesses whether the credit risk of the relevant financial instruments has increased significantly since the initial recognition at each balance sheet date. In determining whether the credit risk has significantly increased since initial recognition, the Group's key criterion is when days past due exceed 30 days, or the following indicators of debtors occur significant changes: the operating environment, internal and external credit ratings and the significant adverse change of actual or predicted operating results.

Definition of credit-impaired assets

The Group's key criterion for determining that credit impairment has occurred is when the number of days past due exceeds 180 days. However, in some cases, the Group also considers credit impairment to have occurred if internal or external information indicates that full recovery of the contractual amount may not be possible before taking into account any credit enhancements held.

The credit impairment of a financial asset may be caused by the combined effect of multiple events and may not be necessarily due to a single event.

1. Risks of financial instruments (continued)

(2) Liquidity risk

The Group aims to maintain sufficient cash and credit lines to meet its liquidity requirements. The Group finances its working capital requirements through a combination of funds generated from operations and other borrowings.

The liquidity of the Group is primarily dependent on adequate cash inflows from operations to meet its debt obligations as they fall due and external financing to fulfil its committed future capital expenditure requirements.

The following table summarises the maturity analysis of financial liabilities and lease liabilities based on the undiscounted contractual cash flows:

(3) Market risk

Interest rate risk

The Group's exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates primarily to the Group's long-term liabilities with a floating interest rate. The Group mitigates the risk by monitoring closely the movements in interest rates, reviewing its borrowings regularly and using financial derivatives such as interest rate swaps flexibly.

The following table presents a sensitivity analysis of the interest rate risk on RMB long-term borrowings, reflecting the effect that a reasonable and probable change in interest rates would have on net profit or loss (through the impact on floating-rate borrowings) and on other comprehensive income, net of tax, under the assumption that all other variables are held constant.

Transferred financial assets that are not derecognised in their entirety

At 31 December 2025, the Group endorsed certain bills receivable accepted by banks (the “Endorsed Bills”) with a carrying amount of RMB409,546,995 (31 December 2024: RMB114,931,747) to certain of its suppliers in order to settle the accounts payable due to such suppliers. In the opinion of the Group, the Group has retained substantially all the risks and rewards, which include default risks relating to such Endorsed Bills, and accordingly, it continued to recognise the full carrying amounts of the Endorsed Bills and the associated accounts payable settled. Subsequent to the Endorsement, the Group did not retain any rights on the use of the Endorsed Bills, including the sale, transfer or pledge of the Endorsed Bills to any other third parties. The aggregate carrying amount of the accounts payable settled by the Endorsed Bills during the year to which the suppliers have recourse was RMB409,546,995 (31 December 2024: RMB114,931,747).

Transferred financial assets that are derecognised in their entirety in which continuing involvement exists

At 31 December 2025, the Group endorsed certain bills receivable accepted by banks (the “Derecognised Bills”) to certain of its suppliers in order to settle the accounts payable due to such suppliers with a carrying amount in aggregate of RMB2,376,035,196 (31 December 2024: RMB2,280,249,072). The Derecognised Bills had a maturity of 1 to 12 months at 31 December 2025. In accordance with the Law of Negotiable Instruments, the holders of the Derecognised Bills may exercise the right of recourse against any, several or all of the persons, including the Group, liable for the Derecognised Bills regardless of the order of precedence (the “Continuing Involvement”). In the opinion of the Group, the Group has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards relating to the Derecognised Bills. Accordingly, it has derecognised the full carrying amounts of the Derecognised Bills and the associated amounts payable. The maximum exposure to loss from the Group’s Continuing Involvement in the Derecognised Bills and the undiscounted cash flows to repurchase these Derecognised Bills is equal to their carrying amounts. In the opinion of the Group, the fair values of the Group’s Continuing Involvement in the Derecognised Bills are not significant.

The Group is not exposed to the risk of default of the debtors of the receivables after the transfer. Subsequent to the transfer or discount, the Group did not retain any rights to use the accounts receivable, including the sale, transfer or pledge of the accounts receivable to any other third parties. X. FAIR VALUE (continued)

4. Level 3 fair value measurements

The Group's finance department is responsible for formulating policies and procedures for the fair value measurement of financial instruments. On each balance sheet date, the finance department analyses changes in the value of financial instruments and determines the key inputs applicable for valuation. Valuations must be reviewed and approved by the Chief Financial Officer.

Financial assets measured at Level 3 fair value held by the Group include unlisted equity investments Project 1 and Project 2. The Group uses the comparable company method to assess the fair value for unlisted equity investment Project 1, with key parameters mainly including a liquidity discount. Since the overall balance of Project 1 is relatively small, changes in its parameters have little impact on the Group. When assessing the fair value of unlisted equity investment Project 2, the Group separates the investee company into significant assets or asset groups for fair value assessment, using methods including the asset-based approach, market approach, and income approach. The Group needs to estimate the key parameters used in the assessment process.

Among them, the mining rights of the company and the fair value of its long-term equity investments have a significant impact on the Group. In the valuation process, the valuation methods and key unobservable inputs mainly include: 1) For the valuation of the investee company's mining rights, the valuation method is the discounted cash flow method, and the main unobservable inputs are the weighted average cost of capital and gross margin; 2) For the valuation of the long-term equity investments held by the investee company, the valuation methods are the market approach and the comparable company method, and the main unobservable input is the liquidity discount.

The following is a sensitivity analysis of significant unobservable inputs for the equity investment in non-listed company 2:

1) Weighted average cost of capital used in the valuation of mining rights

At 31 December 2025, if the weighted average cost of capital used for the valuation of mining rights had been 1 basis point higher, with all other variables held constant, the Company's balance of the equity investment in non-listed company 2 would have decreased by RMB3,495,518. At 31 December 2025, if the weighted average cost of capital used for the valuation of mining rights had been 1 basis point lower, with all other variables held constant, the Company's balance of the equity investment in non-listed company 2 would have increased by RMB3,752,893.

2) Gross profit margin used for the valuation of mining rights

At 31 December 2025, if the gross profit margin adopted for the valuation of mining rights had been 1 basis point higher/lower, with all other variables held constant, the Company's balance of the equity investment in non-listed company 2 would have increased/decreased by RMB1,784,139.

3) Liquidity discount

At 31 December 2025, if the liquidity discount had been 1 basis point higher/lower, with all other variables held constant, the Company's balance of the equity investment in non-listed company 2 would have increased/decreased by RMB467,416.

X. FAIR VALUE (continued)

4. Level 3 fair value measurements (continued)

3) Liquidity discount (continued)

The Group's financial liabilities measured at fair value based on Level 3 inputs include bonds payable — preferred shares. The Group's valuation method for bonds payable — preferred shares is the discounted cash flow method, with key parameters including the bond discount rate, stock price volatility, etc. Since the overall balance is relatively small, the impact of changes in these parameters on the Group is minimal.
